Sunday: 10:30 a.m. – 2:15 p.m.

BE IN THE KNOW

For the latest information on daily AM&E activities, visit the registration area located on the Second Level of the Convention Center.

ASBO International staff will be wearing blue shirts and badges with the ASBO logo, and will happily assist you.

COMPLIMENTARY WIRELESS INTERNET

The Hynes Convention Center provides complimentary Wi-Fi in the public areas and meeting rooms. Grab a seat, check email, and peruse the ASBO AM&E App and electronic amDaily.

BADGES

An official 2013 AM&E badge is required for admission to all functions, including General Sessions, educational sessions, Workshops and Seminars, the Exhibit Hall, and social events. Your badge is also your ticket to earn CPE credits, so be sure to have your badge scanned when entering the room for a CPE-bearing session.

ASBO BOOTH, BOOKSTORE, AND PIN TRADING ZONE

See page 71 for details about these and other Exhibit Hall highlights.

ASBO AM&E APP

Yes, now there's an app for that. The full AM&E program is available for smart phone or tablet users through the ASBO AM&E App. Search for "ASBOIntl 13" in the App StoreSM or Google PlayTM to view and highlight sessions and create your own personal conference itinerary.

Sponsored by Security Benefit

SESSION RECORDINGS

Can't decide which session to attend? No problem! Unless otherwise noted, all AM&E Discussion Groups and Deep Dig Sessions will be recorded and made available to conference registrants on ASBO's Education On Demand.

PICK YOUR FAVORITE TEAM

Help yourself to unlimited ribbons at the ribbon bar located across from registration on the Second Level of the Convention Center. Boston is home to several major league sports teams. Visit TIAA-CREF's Booth 604 to "vote" for your favorite team—the Red Sox (baseball), the Celtics (basketball), the Bruins (hockey), or the New England Patriots (football)—by picking up the corresponding ribbon. Votes will be tallied at the close of the Exhibit Hall on Saturday and attendees' preferred sports team will be revealed at the Second General Session.

Sponsored by TIAA-CREF

ASBO ANNUAL MEETINGS = PINS

Long-time ASBO International members know that part of the history and culture of our association is the pin trading that goes on at every annual meeting. Back by popular demand again this year, we'll add two pins to the ASBO chronicles and your collection.

Sponsored by Siemens Industry, Inc., Building Technologies Division

REFILLABLE WATER BOTTLES

Help minimize our environmental impact during the AM&E by using the refillable water bottle provided with your registration materials. Look for water-filling stations throughout the Convention Center.

Sponsored by Grainger

FIRST AID

In the event of a medical emergency, please call 617.954.2111 or dial extension 2111 from any Convention Center house phone. You can also ask any uniformed Convention Center employee with a radio to assist you. The nurse is located on Level 1 outside of Hall A.

Programming Note: The ASBO International 2013 Annual Meeting & Expo, its programs and materials, including the views and opinions expressed therein, are those of the individual speakers, presenters, and authors, and do not necessarily represent the views and opinions of the Association of School Business Officials International, any of its respective affiliates, officers, directors, board members, or employees. As a courtesy to your colleagues, please turn off all cell phones while in the sessions.

Horace Mann helps fund education

Horace Mann is a national sponsor of DonorsChoose.org, a website dedicated to funding classroom projects. It's just one way Horace Mann says "thank you" to educators.

For a chance to win a completed project in your district, visit Horace Mann at booth 209.

"DonorsChoose.org has really been an inspiration to me. There have been several occasions when I was able to complete funding for a project in my home town as well as here in Reston at several of our community schools. It just gives me such a good feeling to receive the letters from the children and how much the project meant to them.

Thanks for introducing me to this organization."

John D. Musso, CAE, RSBA
ASBO Executive Director

Mark Twain once wrote of three iconic U.S. cities:

In New York they ask, "How much money does he have?"

In Philadelphia, they ask, "Who were his parents?"

In Boston they ask, "How much does he know?"

In the spirit of Twain's writing, we hope you find the 2013 ASBO Annual Meeting & Exhibits in Boston to be filled with inspiring and stimulating knowledge.

CPE

Room: 310

SFOs: 1.0

CPEs: 1.0

Program Level: Basic

Field of Study: Administrative Practice

Program Prerequisites: None

Advance Preparation: None

The presenters will analyze the various types of workers' compensation programs, illustrate the process for choosing between fully insured and self-insured structures, and review key strategies to control and monitor workers' compensation costs.

Learning Objectives: 1. Discuss the differences between fully insured plans and alternative-funding plans. 2. Outline the steps in performing a comparative financial analysis of different plans. 3. Identify basic tools for managing the costs of workers' compensation. 4. Detail how to monitor the success of your plan.

Speakers: Barbara Salatto, Associate Superintendent for Management Services, ESBOCES, Patchogue, NY; Shelley Levine, Executive Vice President, Bollinger Inc., New York, NY

Devolved School Financial Management Under a Student-Based Funding Model, DG065

Room: 304

SFOs: 1.0

Victoria, Australia has one of the most devolved school management approaches among OECD nations. The funding strategies for government schools combine self-management with recognition of diversity in learning needs and an expectation of shared responsibility and cooperation between schools, all within a context of a transparent and rigorous accountability framework. Explore the fundamentals of this successful funding model; the rationale behind it; the linkages between this funding model and student learning outcomes; and the day-to-day decision making required of school leaders and business officials in a self-managing school environment.

Speaker: Nino Napoli, Director, Financial Services Division, Department of Education and Early Childhood Development, Victoria, East Melbourne, AU

11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

Does a UK School Improve by Becoming an Academy?, DG362

Room: 308

SFOs: 1.0

All schools in the UK are required to change to academy status. This has been, and still is, a difficult process, but it is taking many schools away from local authority control and giving them total autonomy. Learn how the conversion process has demanded additional financial competencies from school business managers and about many other changes in the management of the schools.

Speaker: Trevor Summerson, Former School Business Director, National College for School Leadership, Nottingham, UK

American Fidelity

Welcome to ASBO International's 2013 Annual Meeting! From administrative services to healthcare reform guidance, our specialized approach was designed to support the education community. Please join us for our healthcare reform Workshop on Friday at 8:00 a.m. and our Deep Dig Discussion Saturday at 12:30 p.m. We also invite you to visit us in the Exhibit Hall at Booth 309. American Fidelity is proud to be a partner on your side.

The funded status of pension plans has received a lot of attention in the past year. Media reports have spotlighted the concerns about retirement plans, not just in the United States, but worldwide. GASB recently issued new standards to address the reporting of pension plans, which will significantly affect the financial statements of school districts. Learn the latest about GASB's pension requirements and how you can take steps now to prepare to implement them.

Learning Objectives: 1. Outline the requirements of the proposed GASB pension standard. 2. List and define the new terminology related to pension reporting. 3. Explain the potential effects of the proposed standard on your school district's financial statements.

Speakers: Christine Torres, Senior Manager, Crowe Horwath LLP, Oak Brook, IL; Corey Arvizu, Partner, Heinfeld, Meech & Co., Tucson, AZ; Neil A. Sullivan, RSBO, CGFM, Executive Director of Finance, Portland Public Schools, Portland, OR

School officials strive to be good stewards of taxpayer dollars by opening their facilities to the public. However, community use of schools can significantly drain budgets due to increased costs for event administration, energy and other utilities, custodial and staff overtime, and building upkeep. Learn how implementing community use of schools best practices for improving cost recovery, process efficiency, and energy efficiency can help you serve the public while reducing the negative impact on your budget.

Learning Objectives: 1. Explain how to improve cost recovery by documenting actual costs for all facility use expenses, establishing fees, and invoicing for facility use. 2. Describe how to increase process efficiency by shortening administrative time for facility use approvals and set up, and by scheduling all events on a single calendar. 3. Discuss how energy costs can be reduced by automatically coordinating building automation systems with event schedules and by conditioning space after hours for scheduled events.

Benchmarking is the process of evaluating our performance metrics (key performance indicators or KPIs) against those of our peers. In so doing, we identify model districts or schools, learn about their successes, and replicate or adapt their best practices. Dashboards allow us to monitor our KPIs and focus on what is most important, make more informed decisions, quickly identify and respond to problem areas, improve communication, and enhance transparency. Learn how these tools can transform your district into a true learning organization that focuses on continuous improvement, growth, and student success.

Learning Objectives: 1. Describe how to select or identify benchmarks or key performance metrics. 2. Discuss how to select or identify comparable peers. 3. Outline the process of organizing and presenting your data most effectively. 4. Explain how to quickly and easily set up dashboards for your district.

School administrators often get caught up in the myriad immediate tasks that need to be completed to keep their districts moving forward. This couldn't be more apparent than when it comes to helping and supporting students with special needs. And, when we think of children with special needs, we can't forget that we adults carry those same issues into our daily lives as school personnel. While it is impossible to cover every aspect of special education (SPED), this session provides an overview of some key areas that will personalize this whole topic and will help participants better support and understand these amazing children and their own colleagues.

Learning Objectives: 1. Identify the most common SPED diagnoses in schools. 2. Describe how your view of students and colleagues with special needs has changed as a result of this session. 3. Discuss the importance of your role in the school as it relates to all students and, in particular, those served by SPED.

Speakers: John Marcus, Director of Information Technology, Sharon Public Schools, Sharon, MA; Kenneth Wertz, Director of Maintenance and Operations, Sharon Public Schools, Sharon, MA; Paul Anastasi, Facilities Operations Manager, Newton Public Schools, Newton, MA

Supporting Education Through a Better Classroom Environment, DG083

Room: 313

SFOs: 1.0

Learn how energy-efficient infrastructure upgrades at Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School reduced energy consumption by more than 50% while improving the learning and teaching environment and increasing energy and operational efficiency and sustainability. The upgrades represent a major step in transforming the high school into a high-performance building that links to its educational mission. An ongoing service and maintenance program helps ensure systems run at optimum levels.

Speakers: Bruce Kaiser, Business Manager, Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School, Rochester, MA; Leo McNeil, Regional Director-Comprehensive Solutions, Trane, Woburn, MA

10:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.

Developing Long-Term Capital Plans in a Collaborative Environment, DD094

Room: 301

SFOs: 2.0

DAILY SCHEDULE: MONDAY

Examine how the Durham Catholic District School Board developed its 10-year long-term capital and program plan by embarking on a planning process involving staff, trustees, and parents that centered around asking the important questions, developing relevant data, and using facilitated discussions to help set the goals and priorities for the board. This approach focused on programming and students' needs rather than numbers.

Speakers: Lewis Morgulis, Manager of Planning and Admissions, Durham Catholic District School Board, Oshawa, ON, Canada; Tim Robins, Superintendent of Facilities Services, Durham Catholic District School Board, Oshawa, ON, Canada

10:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.

What Do I Need to Do?—Healthcare Reform 2013 Updates, DD207

Room: 303

SFOs: 2.0

This session will address the U.S. Supreme Court decision on the Affordable Care Act, the resultant regulatory environment, and what will be required of educational organizations to mitigate risk and ensure necessary compliance amid significant change and uncertainty. Participants will examine the strategic business decisions that will need to be made to effectively manage scarce resources and maintain labor competitiveness as we look toward more regulatory mandates, the pending Congressional and presidential elections, and beyond. We'll also discuss the evolving negotiation dynamic given shrinking budgets, an unpredictable legislative landscape, and competing local political pressures. Strategies to avoid possible penalties also will be discussed.

Speakers: Darcy Hitesman, Attorney, Hitesman & Wold, P.A., Maple Grove, MN; Amy Diedrich, Consultant—Employee Benefits, Marsh McLennan Agency, Minneapolis, MN; James R. Westrum, Executive Director of Finance and Business, Wayzata Public Schools, Wayzata, MN

School Change from a Resource Perspective, DD082

CPE

Room: 305

SFOs: 2.0

CPEs: 2.0

Program Level: Basic

Field of Study: Finance

Program Prerequisites: None

Advance Preparation: None

This session, based on the book, Leading School Change: Maximizing Resources for School Improvement, covers the basic concepts, models, data-gathering techniques, and strategies for implementing school district change. Participants will walk away with a perspective of how the school business administrator can be a leader in the change process, as well as a copy of the book.

Learning Objectives: 1. Identify obstacles to change. 2. Outline various strategies for implementing school district change. 3. Describe how to acquire, align, and allocate resources to support school change. 4. Discuss some case studies on school district change.

Speakers: Craig Schilling, Associate Professor, Concordia University Chicago, River Forest, IL; Margaret Trybus, Associate Dean, Concordia University Chicago, River Forest, IL

High-achieving schools provide a safe, healthy environment. But to create and maintain this environment, you face a number of hurdles such as rising energy costs, aging infrastructure, increased security threats and ever-tightening budgets. To overcome these challenges, results-oriented schools like yours rely on Siemens.

Our building automation systems and services provide the comfort, indoor air quality and operating efficiency you need, while our security and life safety solutions help ensure the people who use your facility are protected. As a result, building performance and security are optimized, allowing students and teachers to better focus on what's most important: learning.

Siemens performance-based programs allow you to pay for facility improvements through future, guaranteed energy savings as generated by more efficient equipment, building envelope improvements and process optimization. All savings beyond the guarantee belong to your school for discretionary use in funding additional building or system upgrades, developing new programs, buying computers or meeting other critical school needs.

As hundreds of K-12 customers across the country already know, when you work with Siemens, you get a trusted partner who has answers. Contact us today to learn more about how we can help you improve the comfort, energy efficiency, safety, security and buying power of your school.

As a school business official, you face challenges every day as you manage resources and expectations. From arranging safe school transportation for kids to developing salaries, you are expected to be informed and make prudent financial decisions every step of the way. You need timely, accurate, and relevant information from trusted and knowledgeable sources. The ASBO International website is the place to go for reliable answers.

Access online content, industry news, blogs, reports, tools, and resources—and your colleagues.

asbointl.org

Global School Business Network

Social networking, collaboration, and community tools come together in the Global School Business Network. More than a member directory, the Global School Business Network is an interactive online community of school business officials that allows you to leverage your most powerful resource—your colleagues. Interact with professionals on a whole new level. Join a discussion, get answers, share documents, download templates, and access your professional network from anywhere in the world.

Digital School Business Affairs

Did you know your favorite professional magazine is available in a convenient digital format? Read, search, and click directly to the content you need. Missed an issue? ASBO members can access the digital SBA archives also.

School Business Minute

If you are looking for actionable school business insights but are short on time, take a break with School Business Minute, a two-page, quick-read publication, exclusive to ASBO International members. School Business Minute features timely, relevant topics that school business management professionals want to know about: education funding, HR management, financial resource management, energy optimization, facilities management, and more. Find the complete library online.

Books

ASBO International is committed to providing the tools and resources school business officials need most. Our featured books cover a range of topics such as GASB standards, SFO® exam prep, finance and accounting, technology, legal and legislative issues, school business administration, facility management, and best practices.

ASBO Radio

From the best use of educational resources to proven management and leadership techniques, ASBO Radio brings you thought-provoking interviews and discussions with experts who have hands-on experience in school business.

Education On Demand

Two great sessions are scheduled at the same time today and you can't decide which one you want to attend! Not a problem. As an annual meeting attendee, you won't miss a thing. You have unlimited free access to Education On Demand, and that means access to session handouts, online evaluations to earn CPEs and CEUs, and anytime/anywhere access to live audio recordings you can take advantage of during and after the meeting. Your conference access code is ASBO13.

Career Central

Career Central provides resources to enhance your professional experience. Specifically designed for school business officials, Career Central is more than just a job board—you'll find tips for writing your resume and negotiating your offer, get advice from professional career coaches, discover the most frequently asked interview questions, and much more. Whether you are considering a job transition or want to build your personal brand, Career Central has all the tools and resources you need.

Professional Skills Assessment

ASBO International's Professional Skills Assessments are comprehensive skills evaluations created to help you review school business management practices. Use the assessment documents available on ASBO's website to discover your strengths as a school business official and identify opportunities for professional development.

Legislative Action Center

ASBO International's Legislative Action Center is one site that every school manager needs to bookmark. Daily updates make it an indispensable online resource for government relations. Find contact information for elected officials, including President Obama, members of Congress, governors, state legislators, and local officials.

ASBO Buyer's Guide

The ASBO Buyer's Guide is a digital purchasing resource that allows school business officials to search more than 225 categories and find the relevant products and services they need—without the unrelated clutter of a general Internet search engine. Search the vendors and bookmark companies that are of interest to you—making them easier to locate on subsequent buyer's guide visits.

ASBO's Online Store

Want to purchase some ASBO apparel but don't feel like carrying it home from Boston? Show your ASBO pride and shop securely online. Choose from a broad selection of apparel, gifts, travel bags, portfolios, pins, and more.
